Hon. Secretary. J. Macgregor, Esq., Chairman, &c., &c. China Association. 122, Leadenhall Street,

12th April (sic? May), 1891.

My Lord,-In pursuance of this Association's letter of the 23rd March regarding the proposed manigamation of the offices of Chief Judge and Consul-General at Sh aghai, I have now to submit for your Lordship's consideration copy of a project which was formulated by the British resilen be at that port against the proposed change. It will not escape your Lordship's notice that the grounds of objection there stated are substantially the same as those indicated in this A sociation's previous lette . Briefly stated they are that, in the condition of Shangha life the presence of a Consul-General who is an experi ist Chinese language, customs, and habits of thought is of paramount importance; that chause which involves the appointment to that post of a trained lawyer is therefore likely to result in grave inconvenience. Besides which the Consul-General cannot help engaging himto decide as Judge, and this combination of judicial and executive functions cannot have sutisfactory results.

It is obviously difficult to bring out clearly within the limits of a petition arguments that depend in some measure for their force upon an apper ciation of local conditions. Is venture therefore to submit certain additional considerations which may serve to illustrate the arguments put forward.

The case of Constantinople may not improbab y have been present in the minds of your Lordship's advisers when it was proposed to remudel the Shanghai establishment on a somewhat similar footing. But that very case may be cited to exhibit the differences which local circumstances import into conditions that may seem speciously analogous. For H.M.'s Lega. tion to Constantinople is there locate | and ready naturally, at any time, to undertake what re. up to Chung king until a Chinese steamer has Tokio prosperations may be necessary to the Turkish done so, in other words, until the Greek Kalends. It must be remembered pelled to wade through the stream.] also that in a country where the administration is much decentralised, the provincial authorities settle matters affecting their own province: so that, while the Consular duties are restricted presumably in one case to judicial and routine functions, they extend in the other to constant negotiations with the local and provincial officials.

Clearly, an officer called on to discharge such functions should, as the memorislists urge, "cocupy a high and independent position and have had long experience in dealing with Chinese officia s." That experience can only be acquired soon from 13 deg. N. by personal familiarity with the paople, their language and customs, and can certainly not be looked for in one who has had an exclusively logal training: while it can scarcely encourage members of the Consular service in an exception. ally difficult career, to find themselves excluded from the bist appointment to which they could in Angle-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong, For comprehensiveness and practical service his Work stants unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous oblects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typerraphy lianlays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size if body, thereby effecting a vast economy of coace, achieving a clearness not previously sttnined, and dispensing with those wast margins terized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration :-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 18,000 Chinese characters, and Madhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammers and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applinations and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitheric pub-and vacant spaces which have heretofore charac-

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all 25 Europeans residing in China and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-

It comprises upwards of two thousand large 4 Vols. IMPERIAL QUARTO, Prico, S20. A Large REDUCTION in PRICE is made LONDON:
